RATE AND TAXABLE WAGE BASE INFORMATION

2019 Employer rate information: The total maximum rate for a new employer is 1.78 percent. The rate is made up of two portions, the employee's and the employer's shares. This rate should be used by new employers who need to submit a report before being assigned a rate. If the assigned rate is lower, a credit will be issued to use in the following quarter(s).

Employee share: The employee's share is .50 percent. An Alaska employee pays a portion of the Unemployment Insurance, and this portion should be deducted from the employee's wages.

Employer share: The employer's share is a variable rate with the maximum rate for a new employer of 1.28 percent.

2019 Taxable wage base: The taxable wage limit is $39,900.

Unemployment Insurance contributions are due for each employee up to the amount of the taxable wage base. Wages paid to an employee in excess of the taxable wage base are still reportable and listed on the Wage Schedule, but are not taxed.

The only place on the Alaska Quarterly Contribution Report where taxable wages are listed is as a total for all employees in block 4 (Taxable wages paid this quarter) to be used for calculation of taxes due.

2018 Employer rate information: The total maximum rate for a new employer is 1.82 percent. The employee's share is .50 percent, and the employer's share is 1.32 percent.

2018 Taxable wage base: The taxable wage limit is $39,500.

Purchasing a business?

If you purchase a business, be aware that you may be liable for the previous owner's unpaid taxes. See the Alaska Employment Security Tax Handbook online at labor.alaska.gov/estax/taxbook.htm for more information.

Corporations:

Corporate officers are excluded from unemployment insurance coverage. Do not list the corporate officers' names or wages on the reports unless a "Voluntary Election of Coverage for Excluded Employment" has been filed and approved by the department. This law went into effect July 1, 1984.

Contract labor:

The Alaska Employment Security Tax Handbook lists the three conditions which must be met before an employee may be considered as contract labor or an independent contractor.
